Our readers do not need to be reminded that living representations of schools of painting, from the earliest known to the Futurist, were a great feature of the Picture Ball held at the Albert Hall the other day in aid of the Invalid Kitchens of London. Many, of course, were able to attend the fairs and see the fine poses and the splendid costumes; more had not the chance, and for their benefit the pictures are to live once more on the afternoon and on the evening of Tuesday, December 16, again for the Invalid Kitchens of London, but this time at the Gaiety Theatre, held for the purpose by Mr. George Edwards. The performances should be an outstanding success.
