Mr Allison

Dear Sir:

We notice in your invoice in Mess. Searitt & Co's Trade sale Catalogue for April 4 two or three different English dictionaries issued by Mess. Collins.

In repeated instances, these Collins dictionaries—mostly prepared by Dr. Hullall we believe have been attempted to be crowded on the American market through parties ignorant of the fact that they are direct and palpable infringements on the Webster Copy-rights— We had them carefully examined, and the evidence is ample and the parties offering them have at once suppressed them, on having their attention called to the matter.

We shall feel it necessary to take the proper legal measures to protect ourselves, as you would undoubtedly do if in our case— May we request you will withdraw these books from the T. Sale, and at once wholly discontinue the sale yourself. An early reply will oblige
Yours truly G. & C. Merriam
