Dear Mr. van Thal,

I thank you very much for your kindness in sending us a list of centenaries. As a matter of fact we had already considered most of those you mentioned but we were very glad to be reminded of Isaac Williams and Isaac Taylor.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Mr. van Thal,

It is most kind of you to write. Yes, I am pleased at the way things have gone. I now feel much happier about not only the future prosperity of The Times but also its continued independence. That is what matters.

What you say about Oliver Edwards is most kind, but the new Editor, when he is appointed, will have to be left entirely free to choose his contributors.

Yours sincerely,

William Haley
