DEAR ROGUE:

Your first issue was good. I hope that your next issue will be better.

HILDA BEST.

Greenwich Village, Lower Harlem, N. Y.

DEAR ROGUE:

We are very much interested in your publication. Nobody down here has a dollar. If you send me one, I will subscribe.

Very sincerely yours,

WISHER WILLIAMS.

DEAR ROGUE:

Bellevue, N. Y.

ROGUE is rotten. Please discontinue advertising it—at least in the Times which I am forced to read. The Times, of course, is a silly paper and occupies the place that the Herald did years ago, but is useful for advertising purposes. I think your attack on it in extremely bad taste.

LODE LUNAR.

DEAR ROGUE:

Peoria, Pacific.

Miss Stein is not tender. She is heartless. I don't think Longfellow would have liked her.

JAMES JEREMIAH.

DEAR ROGUE:

I never knew there was such a thing as poetry before, I just thought it was something we all were doing. However, Wallace Stevens has shown us. I am going to take up painting.

Undeniably,

RICHARD SIR VALLIENE.

DEAR ROGUE:

Germany never looked upon Belgium as a spite fence. It was rather England who, etc.

OTTO ONION.

DEAR ROGUE:

I never knew before what ROGUE meant. I know now and am grateful.

SAMUEL FURNACE.

DEAR ROGUE:

Please discontinue my subscription blanks at once. I returned late last night and received no less than three, together with a postal card and a notice from the post office.

Is it true that if the price of bread goes up to six cents, ROGUE is going to charge accordingly?

VANCE WESTER.
