I am to start this morning for the South. Capt. Rogers came home yesterday and wished me to go with him as his servant, we are to go this morning by the way. We would have gone yesterday, but my boxes were not ready and my orders not so well, perhaps never to return, but there would be a bigging. There was much joy well felt with army which made I thought I should need. Wednesday A.M. I was now at Bunker Hill Monument and the site of Boston and Charlestown from where I sat in the car and felt the same now as Boston. For the first time in my life. Boston I have been walking around with Capt. There is so much more life there than there is at home that it makes my head dizzy. Was going toMelrose tonight to stop with Charley Rogers. Capt. was brother to the bishop. We are now on our way there in the car. Bishop R.M. we have visited at Melrose; it is a pleasant town the scenery that come with us. I have gone with Capt. R.M. who came with Capt. Cameron in Cambridge about distance from Boston (they go in same car) to stop to night.

Wednesday Sept 11th.
It rains very hard this morning. We shall get to Boston in the half four eight train. Capt. C. Rogers and he had got the best boy in the west. Capt. Rogers more note in Boston C.P. Sunny as here I have just shot.
