Dear Viole

Am sending you booklet - trusting you not to let it out of your own hands - I sent copy to Lawyer in N.Y. She answered: "I am glad to learn he discussed literary as well as political matters. I can see nothing harmful in this material, which I have read carefully. We are trying to avoid, however, any publicity regarding him in this country because we believe the government will be willing to drop his case & set him free only after the public has ceased to exhibit interest in him. I think it would be best, therefore, if your pamphlet were not widely circulated in the U.S."

I think the tone of the writing shows E's concern as primarily for his own people - E's personal friends at least should have no doubts about him - I cut nothing <sup>not even</sup> correcting spelling etc.

I am just back from Paris where old Mrs Pound died the 9th Feb. I think if she had been in the States E. might have been granted compensation leave on parole at least to see her - but no one would help her -

I hope the grand daughter is well & all Affectional greeting of you -
J. G.
